Detailed Action

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claims 5 and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

It is unclear how the command torques are altered in accordance with characteristics of the objects.

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 5 and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

It is unclear what characteristics are set forth.

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 3652

6. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

7. Claims 1-12 and 14-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lemelson '290 in view of Joyce.

It would have been obvious to provide a camera and remote control for the arm in Lemelson in view of the teaching in Joyce to provide operation in a remote or hazardous area. Note Lemelson, column 4, lines 20-31, and Joyce camera 19, actuator 10, and monitor 18.

Regarding claim 2, it would be obvious to use the robot to perform any conventional work including placing an object in a jig.

Regarding claim 5, Lemelson denotes the use of electric gear motors. It is conventional in robotics to use motors controlled by torque to prevent damage to the article being handled. It would have been obvious to use such in Lemelson.

Regarding claim 7, the camera in Lemelson as modified by Joyce serves as both detection means.

Art Unit: 3652

Regarding claims 8-11, both types of sensors are well known and patentability can not be based on the dimensions sensed.

Regarding claim 14, see claim 2 above.

Regarding claim 17, see claim 5 above.

8. Claim 13 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

9. Colston discloses the use of torque sensors in robot motors.
